HUNBREDS DEAD IN MONTANA MINE FIRE

Thirty-five Bodies Recovered Up To Eleven O'clock With Little Hope For Others Entombed

HIGH POWER CABLE IGNITED

(By United Press)

Butte, Mont. June 9—Thirty-five bodies have been recovered at the Speculator mine up until eleven o'clock today, in the blazing fire which has been raging since mid-night.

The fire started when a high power cable touched a high voltage current striking the level igniting some cars. The fire spready rapidly to other levels and resulted in the distribution of burning gases to the abjoining Diamond mine.

Rescue cars are being rushed here from Billings, Mont and from points in Colorado to the scene. Car No. 5 was expected by noon but car No. 2 now in Colorado will not arrive until late tonight. Butte has one of the best rescue organizations in the country and with her aid it is hoped to save many of the entombed men. The men on the lower level were cut off entirely from escape. Men in the upper levels who tried to escape were overcome.

THE OUTPOURING

Ho! lord of lust of power
Unbridled, unconfined,
Stare from your guarded tower,
If not by rage made blind!
See where our white stars shower
On this new charter signed.

Yea, Kaiser! look at the list,
As Satan a scripture scans—
The clerkly script and the ragged fist,
And every name a man's!

The silent woods of Maine
The precious parchments send;
From valley and from plain—
Where hills with Heaven blend—
With triumph in their train,
They come without an end.

Each pen is a spear of flame
To sear the eyes of you,
For every man who writes his name
Is writing "Freedom" too!

They come on rivers' flow;
Rise from the darkest mine;
Where the ranging cattle go—
Where cold, auroras shine—
And God gives men to know
It is for Him they sign.

Each name is a flaming word,
Such as Fear glared upon
When "Mene! Mene!" wrote the Lord
On a wall in Babylon!

Congressman VanDuzer Known Here

Sold Mining Stocks Here And In DuBois Some Time Ago

Baltimore, June 8.—Ex-Congressman Clarence D. Van Duzer, of Nevada, one of the big financiers of that state, former United States attorney and at one time speaker in the Nevada legislature, was arrested at the Emerson Hotel here this afternoon on receipt of a telegram from Sheriff W. S. Smathers, of Clarion, Pa., which stated that Van Duzen is wanted on a charge of conspiracy to defraud.

Van Duzen was released in the custody of ex-Congressman Charles R. Schrim and Donald Creecy, local attorneys, by Justice Packard for a further hearing on June 14. He declares he is not cognizant of any reasons why crimnal proceedings should have been instituted, and he says he is willing to answer to any court of Pennsylvania or any other state in the union. He said:

"I have transacted no business in Clarion county. My representatives, however, have sold stock to some of the residents of that county and it is possible some disgruntled stockholder has instituted these proceedings."

SHOOTING AFFAIR STILL UNSOLVED BALL LOCATED

Patient Getting Along Nicely And Physician Decides to Let Bullet Remain Where It Is

NO CLUE TO SHOOTER FOUND

The shooting of Harry Hudson, the Lawrence township young man who received a revolver bullet in his back while riding to his work at the Wrigley mines, yesterday morning, remains as much a mystery today as it was yesterday morning when the shooting occurred.

The young man is resting quite comfortably today at the hospital. The X-ray was used yesterday to locate the bullet After entering his back the bullet took a downward course and a little to the right and was found to have penetrated from three to five inches.

Thus far it is causing the young fellow very little trouble and the attending physician recommends leaving it where it is without making any effort to remove it.

District Attorney Welch, Sheriff McCloskey, Constables Bowman, of Clearleld and Baar, of Cooper township, made an investigation of the affair at the scene of the shooting yesterday forenoon but were unable to get any clue to the possible perpetrator of the deed.

Hudson said he thought he heard a shot before the rig reached the forks of the road, but they had turned off the main road and were more than one hundred yards up the road towards the Wrigley home when the bullet struck him. Both he and Allen Wrigley, who was driving, heard the report of the gun and when the bullet hit him in the back he said he thought some one had hit him with a stone until he felt the blood running down his back.

At the point where the shooting occurred thick brush lines the road on the upper side, but there is a wide expanse of open fields in every other direction but the dense fog made it impossible for the occupants to see any distance although they attempted to locate the shooter.

The wound has the appearance of having been caused by a 32 calibre revolver bullet.

The name of a man who had some trouble with the injured man has been mentioned in connection with the shooting but there is absolutely no clue as to the guilty person.

RECRUITING NEWS.

Amos H. Bennyhoof Raymond V. Bloom and R. W. Dunlap, of Clearfield; William J. Hunter, Robert P. McFadden and Mervin Geist, of DuBois, made up a squad of Clearfield county recruits to leave for Fort Slocum yesterday.

Harry Delaney, who recently enlisted in the U. S. amublance corps at Fort Slocum is now located at an army hospital near Baltimore, Md. Ferd Magnot is located at Fortress Monroe, Virginia.

Captain Scovel Will Recruit Company L

Chance For Clearfield Boys to Enlist In Pennsylvania Regiment

Captain Sylvester Scovel in charge of Company L. 18th Regiment, located in Clearfield, is moving his headquarters from the Council Chamber to the Dr. Davis lots on the West Side, between West Pine and Clearfield streets. Tents have been erected at this point and we will soon have a regular well equipped army camp in our midst.

Captain Scovel and his company saw six months service on the Mexican border and as the Eighteenth Regiment was rated as one of the best National Guard Regiments in the service Company L's should be a real army camp.

Captain Scovel was authorized yesterday to take up the work of recruiting. Under a recent order of the war department all guard regiments must recruit up to full war strength at once in order to be ready to go into training July 15th for early service in France.

In accordance with this order a recruiting office will be opened here in Clearfield and it will be possible for our boys who desire to enlist in the service of their country to become affiliated with a Pennsylvania organization and will also make it possible for a bunch of the boys to go together and stick together throughout their service.

All recruits who present themselves to Captain Scovel at his barracks here will be given a preliminary examination and if passed will be given transportation to Pittsburg where the final tests will be made and the recruit sworn into service and later returned to his company.

The fact that you registered at last Tuesday's enrollment does not interfere with your right or opportunity to volunteer now, although some people seem to have the idea that after they were once registered they had no right to volunteer but must wait to be drafted. This is not the case and you can volunteer at any time up until you receive your notice of draft. All you have to do if you want to volunteer with Captain Scovel is to present yourself here at his headquarters with your registration card and he will do the rest even to providing transportation to Pittsburg.

Captain Scovel already has a list of some twenty-five boys from Clearfield and vicinity who have been waiting for this opportunity to join a Pennsylvania organization as a unit and as they have been invited to present themselves for examination Clearfield will no doubt soon have a real local interest in Company L. and its doings in France.

Boys, if you want to respond to your Uncle Sammy's call for help, here's your chance.

WINBURNE WILL GET VISIT OF RESCUE CAR

Car No. 6 Will Be At Winburne From July 22d To Aug. 4th To Give Instructions

CARRIES LARGE EQUIPMENT

Washington, D. C., June 7—Mine-Rescue Car No. 6 of the United States Bureau of Mines in charge of Jesse Henson, foreman miner, and a crew of trained men, will reach Winburne, Pa., on July 22d. The car will be on exhibition every day from 9:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. until August 4 and free lectures will be given to miners on safe methods of mining, the use of safety lamps and rescue apparatus, and mine gases. The car will then proceed to Philipsburg, Pa., and remain there until August 31.

This mine-rescue car is one of eight now in use by the Bureau of Mines for training miners in first aid and rescue methods and the use of oxygen-breathing apparatus. Each car has a crew that includes two experienced miners, a mining engineer in charge, and a mine surgeon, and is equipped with the latest rescue and first-aid apparatus and supplies. At a moment's notice the car is ready to proceed to the scene of a mine disaster, where the bureau men place themselves under the direction of the state mining inspectors and mine officials to do everything possible to assist or save miners who may have been injured or entombed.

The saving of human life and lessening the sufferings of injured miners are the central features of the bureau's work.

Miners are shown how to use rescue apparatus, and how to take care of an injured comrade. The lectures are illustrated by lantern slides and moving pictures which show good and bad methods of mining and how many accidents are easily prevented. These lectures are given in the car when a suitable meeting place cannot be procured elsewhere, but lantern slides and moving pictures cannot be shown in the car.

Each car carries oxygen-breathing apparatus, a supply of oxygen in cylinders, safety lamps, a field telephone with 2,000 feet of wire, a collapsible steel mine cage, an apparatus for reviving miners who have been gassed, and the charts.

Fifth Regiment Band Always Loyal To Town

Not In Shape To Come Out In Last Tuesday Evening's Parade

Following Tuesday night's parade a great deal of criticism was directed at the Fifth Regiment band because they were not in line.. In the interest of public justice and fair play we want to say that criticism along this line is unfair. The Fifth Regiment band, while invited to participate by the committee were unable to do so on account of shortness of time to get word to out of town members. The Fifth Regiment band is not in shape to come out now on account of the fact that several members of the band have enlisted in the army and Fifth is pretty badly disorganized. Had it been otherwise no doubt the band would have been at their usual place at the head of the line, where they have always been on public and patriotic occasions since the band was organized.

The writer is in position to know something about the generosity of the band an dits members in the past and can safely say that there never was a Memoria lDay, fireman's benelt, picnic, or any other public occasion when Director Leipold refused to have his band in line free of charge, and the little bit of unthinking criticism with regard to facts, ill becomes a community so well served in this regard as our town has been.

The Fifth Regiment band was always made up of professional and working men, who themselves supported their band; received no public support or contribution they did not earn, and really gave more of their time and effort free of charge on public occasions than any other organization in our town, and are not deserving even of the criticism of the fellow who never contributed ten cents to their support and wants to hand out $10 worth of knocks on the least possible excuse.

England Enthusiastic Over Arrival Of American Idol Who Is Preparing For U. S. Troops

TIMES ASKS PUBLIC WELCOME

General Lord Brooke made the presentation. Pershing and his staff are at work today conferring with British military officials with regard to transfer at early date to the French front. London gave a hearty welcome to the American General and his staff.

London newspapers out did their usual outbursts of enthusiasm. "The landing of Pershing is an historical event" declared the Daily Express. "He will learn from Admiral Sims how affectionately Great Britain welcomes America's aid. His arrival is a reminder that while we are hammering, the United States is preparing with enthusiasm and ardor to hammer with us." The Times asked for an opportunity for a public welcome to Pershing and his men—"the standard bearers of the great Republic in the battle for the moral foundation on which she rests."

They fought for several hours in Congress over putting a federal tax on soap. It is a safe bet that the kids all want an exorbitant tax imposed.

The value of advertising space to the Government has had a real test in Chicago. Thirty-five full pages of newspaper space were used to help secure Red Cross memberships. The goal—150,000 members in thirty days. The result, through advertising—over 300,000 members, and the returns not yet all in.

With a Liberty Loan campaign, a Red Cross campaign and a dozen other things pricking at our wallets we must buckle down to business harder than ever. We must reach out for more business; get after it and hold on to it We must spend money in order that others may have it to spend but while we are spending suppose we spend a little for a Liberty Bond and let Uncle Sam spend it wisely We must support these two big campaigns. If we fail to support the Liberty Loan Uncle Sam is whipped at the start and Americans will become the slaves of Germany If we fail to support the Red Cross our soldier boys will suffer and be unable to undergo the hardships of a military campaign against our enemy. Either prospect should be enough to stir us to action

WANT A THRILL?

We are not going to recommend that you go to the circus next Saturday as all you will need to do to witness a hair breadth Harry escape from death or horrible injury is to stand on the Court House corner for thirty minutes tomorrow afternoon if the weather is nice That silent policeman is a dandy for the speeders. Nervous people shun that corner. It is nothing unusual to see a mixup there and more than one fellow has held his breath at the sights to be seen there. As an added attraction Clearfield furnishes a dog show every Sunday morning for church goers and the public square so much resembles the turf of a race track that every fellow who comes along tries to run down a dog or two.

Fashion Hints By Margaret Mason

(Written for the United Press)

"Darling" signed the knitting needle,
"Wool you marry me?"
But Miss Zephel Yarn so fluffy
Nought but "Knit" said she

New York, June 9—Talk about the wild and woolly West, it isn't in it for wildness and woolliness with the effete East these days You'll find all the femmine wits on Fifth avenue have their hands full. In limousines, taxis and on tops of the busses wool, mufflers and chest protectors are growing, for soldiers and sailors

I even encountered several strolling ladies with their knitting all ready for business in one hand, not even under cover of a hand bag They held it thus in the open so they could take advantage of any little stop overs and waits for traffic to take a few stitches, en passant as it were Most wooly enthusiasts have their mufflers muffled or their chest protectors protected in one of the gay cretonne knitting bags when not in active use.

The array of these bags is positively fascinating! So much so that even the most rabid of anti-knitting would be glad to yank a hank of yarn and a pair of needles and get busy just in order to bag a bag

They are evolved from the brightest bits of cretonne and figured linen trimmed in cords, tassels or galoon and varicolored satin apples, fringes, festoons and frills. Some more ornate, are of silk and satin trimmed in French ribbon flowers Attached to the tall walking sticks they are most handy for those who walk while they work.

All the wool gathering isn't being done for the military or the marines though, by any manner of means. It takes three skeins to make a regulation army or navy muffler, but it is hard to guage just how much it takes to trim and fringe miladys dress of jersey cloth, serge or georegite crepe To be a really successful frock it must have fool embroidery around the hem, the cuffs, the neck, the pockets and the belt. There are yarn tassels too and yarn fringe to finish well and wooly,

Wool doesn't even stop at outer garments but invades the realm of lingerie. It is a far cry from the woolen lingerie of 1917 to the aesthetic red and grey woolen union suits our parents used to make us don when we were young and helpless Today envelope chemises, nighties and combinations of salmon pink, purple or turquoise blue Georgette crepe are embroidered lavishly in yarn of divers hues This modernist is certainly right up to scratch.

Smocks and slip over blouses of Georgette crepe are also fulsomly darned Even some of the smartest new bathing suits have the habit with cunning little yarn fringes around their abbreviated skirts and bobbing yarn tassels on the pockets and topping the smart and inkish bathing caps. It is to be hoped, however, that a generous cake of wool soap will accompany each wool embroidered mermaid when she goes in for her dip.

Dame Fashion is actually trying to pull the wool over our eyes as is evidenced by the new yarn embroidered veils that float in the breeze from our close little hats

Then there are the hats themselves Of course they are numbered among the wooly ones, and parasols revel in raveled yarn fringes and unfurl their knitting new under the sun.

Collar and cuff sets of Georgette crepe, button holed around their edges in bright toned wool are most effective and Jabots, wool garnished, are neck and neck with the latest summer modes Jabots of all sorts, by the way, are very much to the front and spill their frilly froth of lace and cascades of chifton crepe over the smartest of tailored lapels Of finely pleated organdie, batiste and muslin bordered in the narrowest of Irish crochet, cluny or filet edge they are chic though the filmy lace ones are the loveliest of all

But to return to our muttons or rather the outside of them which is the wool we mustn't forget the yarn embroidered negligees, house gowns and robes in time in our resume of yarn decked wearing apparel They are all quite exotically and erotically wooly

From all of which it is plain to be seen that a 1917 reversion of Mother Goose's famous ditty is badly needed now, to run about like this

Baa Baa black sheep
Have you any wool?
Yes kind master, three bags full
One for the soldier,
The sailor the same
And one, very large, for the fashionable dame.

ON THE SCREEN

Capt. Whitaker of the Alden Besse, willed that his daughter, Esther, should marry his first mate Esther married the man of her choice—a lobster fisherman and not a seafaring man of the vast deep. When Capt Whitaker returned home from a long voyage and found a wedding ring on his daughter's finger, he did his best to kill her husband and then forced the girl to sail in the Alden Besse on a voyage to China. When far out at sea, Capt Whitaker wanted to perform the ceremony that would wed his daughter to the mate—but Esther mutinied and this rebellion led, indirectly, to a mutiny among the sailors Then the elements capped the climax by wrecking the ship, riding the plot of all its rebellious characters and washing the girl, and her newborn babe, upon the rock near shore Fate sent her husband to rescue his loved ones and there you have a skeleton of the plot carried by the Bluebird photoplay to be exhibited at the Tent on Saturday. It's title is "Mutiny" and Myrtle Gonzalez, Val Paul and George Hernandez will play the leading roles in a play of gripping interest, sensational developments and the much desired "happy ending."

This was the third time the case was tried.

Well Known Man in The Banta Refrigerator Office Uses Goldine After Two Years of Suffering

Mrs. Curtis Bloom of Olanta is Bidding Goodby to Backache and Kidney Trouble by the Goldine Method

Mr W D McBride living at 125 Nichols street, well known clerk in the office of the Banta Refrigerator company, was ailing for two years with acid stomach In fact he has been so bad that he lost the sense of taste He was troubled with gas, bloating and a sort of nervous dyspepsia. Ask Mr. McBride what he thinks of Goldine.

Mrs Curtis Bloom, of Olanta, well known in that section has for the past year been troubled severely with her kidneys and back She had headaches in the back of her head, with dizziness and catarrh. She took cold easily and would cough and spat up a great deal. She was short of breath, had palpitation of the heart, rheumatism in her back and shoulders. It also settled in her muscles and joints. She had a pain over her liver; her skin was sallow; tongue coated and stomach bloated with gas; usually constipated; had lame back and lumbago. Also had bladder trouble which interrupted her rest at night. Her hands and feet would go to sleep and her muscles would twitch. She would have weak and trembly spells and her nerves were awfully bad. Ask her what she thinks of Goldine.

Don't forget Stewart's at Clearfield and Wrigley's at Curwensville are the only places to get Goldine.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lesson XI.—Second Quarter, For June 10, 1917.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, John xix, 16-30. Memory Verses, 26, 27—Golden Text, I Cor. xv, 3—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

Pilate seems to have tried again and again to release Him, and his wife also sent him word to have nothing to do with that just man, for she had suffered many things in a dream because of Him (Matt. xxvii, 19). Peter testified after Pentecost that Pilate was determined to let Him go (Acts iii, 13). He evidently thought when he asked them to choose between Christ and Barabbas as to which he should release unto them that they would surely ask for Christ. But they cried out, "Not this man, but Barabbas," although Barabbas was a robber and murderer (chapter xviii, 40; Acts iii, 14). Pilate's fear to touch Him increased when the Jesus said that His crime was that He said He was the Son of God (verse 7). When Pilate asked Him about this Jesus at first made no reply, but a little later said to him, "Thou couldest have no power against Me except it were given thee from above; therefore he that delivered Me unto thee hath the greater sin" (verse 11).

The first part of this reply must refer to the will of God, the determinate counsel and foreknowledge of God, that which His hand and His counsel determined before to be done (Acts ii, 23; iv, 28), the last part to the high priest who delivered Him to Pilate There are degrees of sin and degrees of punishment for the lost, as there are degrees of rewards for the righteous (Luke xii, 48; Rev. xxii, 12). When the Jews cried out, "If thou let this man go thou art not Caesar's friend; * * * we have no king but Caesar" (verses 12-15), Pilate took water and washed his hands before the multitude, saying, "I am innocent of the blood of this just person; see ye to it." Then the people said, "His blood be on us and on our children" Then he released Barabbas, scourged Jesus and delivered Him to be crucified (Matt xxvii, 24-26). Why did he scourge Him after he declared Him innocent? Why did he deliver Him to the brutal soldiers to be mocked and spit upon and so ill treated? Even a guilty man is protected from injustice at the hands of his enemies as a rule. If we cannot reply to the why, let each one at least say it was all for me, the Holy One of God suffering in my stead. When we see the Son of God, the Creator of all things, the Judge of all mankind, receiving such treatment at the hands of the civil and religious authorities and remember that they are just the same today, what should be our attitude to them? When we hear Pilate say, "Behold the man!" and "Behold your king!" (verses 5-14) we think of the true testimonies of the Spirit, "Behold the man whose name is The Branch!" and "Behold, thy king cometh!" (Zech. vi, 12; ix, 9)

So Pilate delivered Jesus to be crucified, and they took Him and led Him away, and He, bearing His cross, went forth (verses 16, 17). They met one Simon, a Cyrenian, coming into the city and compelled him to turn about and help Jesus bear the cross or bear it for Him (Luke xxiii, 26). We remember that He said, "If any man will come after Me, let him deny himself and take up his cross and follow Me" (Matt. xvi, 24) Let us not forget that the cross is never anything beautiful, but a cruel thing signifying a painful and lingering death. Many women followed Him, bewailing and lamenting Him, but He told them not to weep for Him, but for themselves and their children because of the things that would come upon them (Luke xxiii, 27-31). Having reached Golgotha, they crucified Him and two evildoers with Him, one on either side and Jesus in the midst, and thus He was numbered with transgressors, all for me.

The four soldiers divided His garments among them, but for His coat they cast lots, thus fulfilling another Scripture (verses 23, 24; Ps. xxii, 18) Perhaps three more awful words were never written than these, "They crucified Him" (verse 18), when we consider who He was that they crucified, the Prince of Life, the Lord of Glory (Acts iii, 15; I Cor. ii, 8), and that He submitted to be a curse for us that we might not perish (Gal. iii, 13). We have in our lesson three of His seven sayings on the cross (26, 28, 30); but, taking them in order from all the records, we have first forgiveness, even for those who crucified Him; then glory for even a penitent thief; then provision for His own mother, suggesting the supply of all we can need between salvation and glory. The fourth was at the beginning of the darkness, "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken Me?" and the other three at the close of those awful six hours, "I thirst." "It is finished," "Father, into thy hands I commit My spirit."

When the Jews asked Pilate to have the bodies removed that their Sabbath day might not be desecrated (oh, the utter hypocrisy of it all!) the soldiers broke the legs of the two malefactors but found Jesus dead already, so they did not break His legs, but a soldier pierced His side, and thus two Scriptures were fulfilled, Ex xii, 46; Zech xii, 10. The last part of the chapter describes His burial by Nicodemus and Joseph in Joseph's new tomb, and thus was fulfilled the saying, With the rich in His death (Isa liii, 9)

Thirty-five Bodies Recovered Up To Eleven O'clock With Little Hope For Others Entombed

HIGH POWER CABLE IGNITED

(By United Press)

Butte, Mont. June 9—Thirty-five bodies have been recovered at the Speculator mine up until eleven o'clock today, in the blazing fire which has been raging since mid-night.

The fire started when a high power cable touched a high voltage current striking the level igniting some cars. The fire spready rapidly to other levels and resulted in the distribution of burning gases to the abjoining Diamond mine.

Rescue cars are being rushed here from Billings, Mont and from points in Colorado to the scene. Car No. 5 was expected by noon but car No. 2 now in Colorado will not arrive until late tonight. Butte has one of the best rescue organizations in the country and with her aid it is hoped to save many of the entombed men. The men on the lower level were cut off entirely from escape. Men in the upper levels who tried to escape were overcome.

THE OUTPOURING

Ho! lord of lust of power
Unbridled, unconfined,
Stare from your guarded tower,
If not by rage made blind!
See where our white stars shower
On this new charter signed.

Yea, Kaiser! look at the list,
As Satan a scripture scans—
The clerkly script and the ragged fist,
And every name a man's!

The silent woods of Maine
The precious parchments send;
From valley and from plain—
Where hills with Heaven blend—
With triumph in their train,
They come without an end.

Each pen is a spear of flame
To sear the eyes of you,
For every man who writes his name
Is writing "Freedom" too!

They come on rivers' flow;
Rise from the darkest mine;
Where the ranging cattle go—
Where cold, auroras shine—
And God gives men to know
It is for Him they sign.

Each name is a flaming word,
Such as Fear glared upon
When "Mene! Mene!" wrote the Lord
On a wall in Babylon!

Congressman VanDuzer Known Here

Sold Mining Stocks Here And In DuBois Some Time Ago

Baltimore, June 8.—Ex-Congressman Clarence D. Van Duzer, of Nevada, one of the big financiers of that state, former United States attorney and at one time speaker in the Nevada legislature, was arrested at the Emerson Hotel here this afternoon on receipt of a telegram from Sheriff W. S. Smathers, of Clarion, Pa., which stated that Van Duzen is wanted on a charge of conspiracy to defraud.

Van Duzen was released in the custody of ex-Congressman Charles R. Schrim and Donald Creecy, local attorneys, by Justice Packard for a further hearing on June 14. He declares he is not cognizant of any reasons why crimnal proceedings should have been instituted, and he says he is willing to answer to any court of Pennsylvania or any other state in the union. He said:

"I have transacted no business in Clarion county. My representatives, however, have sold stock to some of the residents of that county and it is possible some disgruntled stockholder has instituted these proceedings."

SHOOTING AFFAIR STILL UNSOLVED BALL LOCATED

Patient Getting Along Nicely And Physician Decides to Let Bullet Remain Where It Is

NO CLUE TO SHOOTER FOUND

The shooting of Harry Hudson, the Lawrence township young man who received a revolver bullet in his back while riding to his work at the Wrigley mines, yesterday morning, remains as much a mystery today as it was yesterday morning when the shooting occurred.

The young man is resting quite comfortably today at the hospital. The X-ray was used yesterday to locate the bullet After entering his back the bullet took a downward course and a little to the right and was found to have penetrated from three to five inches.

Thus far it is causing the young fellow very little trouble and the attending physician recommends leaving it where it is without making any effort to remove it.

District Attorney Welch, Sheriff McCloskey, Constables Bowman, of Clearleld and Baar, of Cooper township, made an investigation of the affair at the scene of the shooting yesterday forenoon but were unable to get any clue to the possible perpetrator of the deed.

Hudson said he thought he heard a shot before the rig reached the forks of the road, but they had turned off the main road and were more than one hundred yards up the road towards the Wrigley home when the bullet struck him. Both he and Allen Wrigley, who was driving, heard the report of the gun and when the bullet hit him in the back he said he thought some one had hit him with a stone until he felt the blood running down his back.

At the point where the shooting occurred thick brush lines the road on the upper side, but there is a wide expanse of open fields in every other direction but the dense fog made it impossible for the occupants to see any distance although they attempted to locate the shooter.

The wound has the appearance of having been caused by a 32 calibre revolver bullet.

The name of a man who had some trouble with the injured man has been mentioned in connection with the shooting but there is absolutely no clue as to the guilty person.

RECRUITING NEWS.

Amos H. Bennyhoof Raymond V. Bloom and R. W. Dunlap, of Clearfield; William J. Hunter, Robert P. McFadden and Mervin Geist, of DuBois, made up a squad of Clearfield county recruits to leave for Fort Slocum yesterday.

James Ball, of Hillsdale, is now a member of Co. B., 19th Infantry, U. S. army, located at San Antonio, Texas. He writes home that he likes soldiering and says the boys have been informed they will be in France before the snow flies.

Harry Delaney, who recently enlisted in the U. S. amublance corps at Fort Slocum is now located at an army hospital near Baltimore, Md. Ferd Magnot is located at Fortress Monroe, Virginia.

Captain Scovel Will Recruit Company L

Chance For Clearfield Boys to Enlist In Pennsylvania Regiment

Captain Sylvester Scovel in charge of Company L. 18th Regiment, located in Clearfield, is moving his headquarters from the Council Chamber to the Dr. Davis lots on the West Side, between West Pine and Clearfield streets. Tents have been erected at this point and we will soon have a regular well equipped army camp in our midst.

Captain Scovel and his company saw six months service on the Mexican border and as the Eighteenth Regiment was rated as one of the best National Guard Regiments in the service Company L's should be a real army camp.

Captain Scovel was authorized yesterday to take up the work of recruiting. Under a recent order of the war department all guard regiments must recruit up to full war strength at once in order to be ready to go into training July 15th for early service in France.

In accordance with this order a recruiting office will be opened here in Clearfield and it will be possible for our boys who desire to enlist in the service of their country to become affiliated with a Pennsylvania organization and will also make it possible for a bunch of the boys to go together and stick together throughout their service.

All recruits who present themselves to Captain Scovel at his barracks here will be given a preliminary examination and if passed will be given transportation to Pittsburg where the final tests will be made and the recruit sworn into service and later returned to his company.

The fact that you registered at last Tuesday's enrollment does not interfere with your right or opportunity to volunteer now, although some people seem to have the idea that after they were once registered they had no right to volunteer but must wait to be drafted. This is not the case and you can volunteer at any time up until you receive your notice of draft. All you have to do if you want to volunteer with Captain Scovel is to present yourself here at his headquarters with your registration card and he will do the rest even to providing transportation to Pittsburg.

Captain Scovel already has a list of some twenty-five boys from Clearfield and vicinity who have been waiting for this opportunity to join a Pennsylvania organization as a unit and as they have been invited to present themselves for examination Clearfield will no doubt soon have a real local interest in Company L. and its doings in France.

Boys, if you want to respond to your Uncle Sammy's call for help, here's your chance.

WINBURNE WILL GET VISIT OF RESCUE CAR

Car No. 6 Will Be At Winburne From July 22d To Aug. 4th To Give Instructions

CARRIES LARGE EQUIPMENT

Washington, D. C., June 7—Mine-Rescue Car No. 6 of the United States Bureau of Mines in charge of Jesse Henson, foreman miner, and a crew of trained men, will reach Winburne, Pa., on July 22d. The car will be on exhibition every day from 9:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. until August 4 and free lectures will be given to miners on safe methods of mining, the use of safety lamps and rescue apparatus, and mine gases. The car will then proceed to Philipsburg, Pa., and remain there until August 31.

This mine-rescue car is one of eight now in use by the Bureau of Mines for training miners in first aid and rescue methods and the use of oxygen-breathing apparatus. Each car has a crew that includes two experienced miners, a mining engineer in charge, and a mine surgeon, and is equipped with the latest rescue and first-aid apparatus and supplies. At a moment's notice the car is ready to proceed to the scene of a mine disaster, where the bureau men place themselves under the direction of the state mining inspectors and mine officials to do everything possible to assist or save miners who may have been injured or entombed.

The saving of human life and lessening the sufferings of injured miners are the central features of the bureau's work.

Miners are shown how to use rescue apparatus, and how to take care of an injured comrade. The lectures are illustrated by lantern slides and moving pictures which show good and bad methods of mining and how many accidents are easily prevented. These lectures are given in the car when a suitable meeting place cannot be procured elsewhere, but lantern slides and moving pictures cannot be shown in the car.

Each car carries oxygen-breathing apparatus, a supply of oxygen in cylinders, safety lamps, a field telephone with 2,000 feet of wire, a collapsible steel mine cage, an apparatus for reviving miners who have been gassed, and the charts.

Fifth Regiment Band Always Loyal To Town

Not In Shape To Come Out In Last Tuesday Evening's Parade

Following Tuesday night's parade a great deal of criticism was directed at the Fifth Regiment band because they were not in line.. In the interest of public justice and fair play we want to say that criticism along this line is unfair. The Fifth Regiment band, while invited to participate by the committee were unable to do so on account of shortness of time to get word to out of town members. The Fifth Regiment band is not in shape to come out now on account of the fact that several members of the band have enlisted in the army and Fifth is pretty badly disorganized. Had it been otherwise no doubt the band would have been at their usual place at the head of the line, where they have always been on public and patriotic occasions since the band was organized.

The writer is in position to know something about the generosity of the band an dits members in the past and can safely say that there never was a Memoria lDay, fireman's benelt, picnic, or any other public occasion when Director Leipold refused to have his band in line free of charge, and the little bit of unthinking criticism with regard to facts, ill becomes a community so well served in this regard as our town has been.

The Fifth Regiment band was always made up of professional and working men, who themselves supported their band; received no public support or contribution they did not earn, and really gave more of their time and effort free of charge on public occasions than any other organization in our town, and are not deserving even of the criticism of the fellow who never contributed ten cents to their support and wants to hand out $10 worth of knocks on the least possible excuse.

GEN. PERSHING PRESENTED TO KING GEORGE

England Enthusiastic Over Arrival Of American Idol Who Is Preparing For U. S. Troops

TIMES ASKS PUBLIC WELCOME

London, June 9.—Major John J. Pershing, commander in chief of America's first punitive expedition, force to France was formally presented to King George in a private audience today. General Lord Brooke made the presentation. Pershing and his staff are at work today conferring with British military officials with regard to transfer at early date to the French front. London gave a hearty welcome to the American General and his staff.

London newspapers out did their usual outbursts of enthusiasm. "The landing of Pershing is an historical event" declared the Daily Express. "He will learn from Admiral Sims how affectionately Great Britain welcomes America's aid. His arrival is a reminder that while we are hammering, the United States is preparing with enthusiasm and ardor to hammer with us." The Times asked for an opportunity for a public welcome to Pershing and his men—"the standard bearers of the great Republic in the battle for the moral foundation on which she rests."

They fought for several hours in Congress over putting a federal tax on soap. It is a safe bet that the kids all want an exorbitant tax imposed.

The value of advertising space to the Government has had a real test in Chicago. Thirty-five full pages of newspaper space were used to help secure Red Cross memberships. The goal—150,000 members in thirty days. The result, through advertising—over 300,000 members, and the returns not yet all in.

With a Liberty Loan campaign, a Red Cross campaign and a dozen other things pricking at our wallets we must buckle down to business harder than ever. We must reach out for more business; get after it and hold on to it We must spend money in order that others may have it to spend but while we are spending suppose we spend a little for a Liberty Bond and let Uncle Sam spend it wisely We must support these two big campaigns. If we fail to support the Liberty Loan Uncle Sam is whipped at the start and Americans will become the slaves of Germany If we fail to support the Red Cross our soldier boys will suffer and be unable to undergo the hardships of a military campaign against our enemy. Either prospect should be enough to stir us to action

WANT A THRILL?

We are not going to recommend that you go to the circus next Saturday as all you will need to do to witness a hair breadth Harry escape from death or horrible injury is to stand on the Court House corner for thirty minutes tomorrow afternoon if the weather is nice That silent policeman is a dandy for the speeders. Nervous people shun that corner. It is nothing unusual to see a mixup there and more than one fellow has held his breath at the sights to be seen there. As an added attraction Clearfield furnishes a dog show every Sunday morning for church goers and the public square so much resembles the turf of a race track that every fellow who comes along tries to run down a dog or two.

Fashion Hints By Margaret Mason

(Written for the United Press)

"Darling" signed the knitting needle,
"Wool you marry me?"
But Miss Zephel Yarn so fluffy
Nought but "Knit" said she

New York, June 9—Talk about the wild and woolly West, it isn't in it for wildness and woolliness with the effete East these days You'll find all the femmine wits on Fifth avenue have their hands full. In limousines, taxis and on tops of the busses wool, mufflers and chest protectors are growing, for soldiers and sailors

I even encountered several strolling ladies with their knitting all ready for business in one hand, not even under cover of a hand bag They held it thus in the open so they could take advantage of any little stop overs and waits for traffic to take a few stitches, en passant as it were Most wooly enthusiasts have their mufflers muffled or their chest protectors protected in one of the gay cretonne knitting bags when not in active use.

The array of these bags is positively fascinating! So much so that even the most rabid of anti-knitting would be glad to yank a hank of yarn and a pair of needles and get busy just in order to bag a bag

They are evolved from the brightest bits of cretonne and figured linen trimmed in cords, tassels or galoon and varicolored satin apples, fringes, festoons and frills. Some more ornate, are of silk and satin trimmed in French ribbon flowers Attached to the tall walking sticks they are most handy for those who walk while they work.

All the wool gathering isn't being done for the military or the marines though, by any manner of means. It takes three skeins to make a regulation army or navy muffler, but it is hard to guage just how much it takes to trim and fringe miladys dress of jersey cloth, serge or georegite crepe To be a really successful frock it must have fool embroidery around the hem, the cuffs, the neck, the pockets and the belt. There are yarn tassels too and yarn fringe to finish well and wooly,

Wool doesn't even stop at outer garments but invades the realm of lingerie. It is a far cry from the woolen lingerie of 1917 to the aesthetic red and grey woolen union suits our parents used to make us don when we were young and helpless Today envelope chemises, nighties and combinations of salmon pink, purple or turquoise blue Georgette crepe are embroidered lavishly in yarn of divers hues This modernist is certainly right up to scratch.

Smocks and slip over blouses of Georgette crepe are also fulsomly darned Even some of the smartest new bathing suits have the habit with cunning little yarn fringes around their abbreviated skirts and bobbing yarn tassels on the pockets and topping the smart and inkish bathing caps. It is to be hoped, however, that a generous cake of wool soap will accompany each wool embroidered mermaid when she goes in for her dip.

Dame Fashion is actually trying to pull the wool over our eyes as is evidenced by the new yarn embroidered veils that float in the breeze from our close little hats

Then there are the hats themselves Of course they are numbered among the wooly ones, and parasols revel in raveled yarn fringes and unfurl their knitting new under the sun.

Collar and cuff sets of Georgette crepe, button holed around their edges in bright toned wool are most effective and Jabots, wool garnished, are neck and neck with the latest summer modes Jabots of all sorts, by the way, are very much to the front and spill their frilly froth of lace and cascades of chifton crepe over the smartest of tailored lapels Of finely pleated organdie, batiste and muslin bordered in the narrowest of Irish crochet, cluny or filet edge they are chic though the filmy lace ones are the loveliest of all

But to return to our muttons or rather the outside of them which is the wool we mustn't forget the yarn embroidered negligees, house gowns and robes in time in our resume of yarn decked wearing apparel They are all quite exotically and erotically wooly

From all of which it is plain to be seen that a 1917 reversion of Mother Goose's famous ditty is badly needed now, to run about like this

Baa Baa black sheep
Have you any wool?
Yes kind master, three bags full
One for the soldier,
The sailor the same
And one, very large, for the fashionable dame.

ON THE SCREEN

Capt. Whitaker of the Alden Besse, willed that his daughter, Esther, should marry his first mate Esther married the man of her choice—a lobster fisherman and not a seafaring man of the vast deep. When Capt Whitaker returned home from a long voyage and found a wedding ring on his daughter's finger, he did his best to kill her husband and then forced the girl to sail in the Alden Besse on a voyage to China. When far out at sea, Capt Whitaker wanted to perform the ceremony that would wed his daughter to the mate—but Esther mutinied and this rebellion led, indirectly, to a mutiny among the sailors Then the elements capped the climax by wrecking the ship, riding the plot of all its rebellious characters and washing the girl, and her newborn babe, upon the rock near shore Fate sent her husband to rescue his loved ones and there you have a skeleton of the plot carried by the Bluebird photoplay to be exhibited at the Tent on Saturday. It's title is "Mutiny" and Myrtle Gonzalez, Val Paul and George Hernandez will play the leading roles in a play of gripping interest, sensational developments and the much desired "happy ending."

MUST SETTLE WITH PANCOAST ESTATE

A jury in the United States court at Pittsburg yesterday rendered a verdict of $9,400 against the DuBois Traction company for injuries sustained by Victor H Pancoast when a brick pulled from a chimney on the Commercial Hotel in DuBois by a rope supporting a Taft banner struck Pancoast on the head and severely injured him.

This was the third time the case was tried.

Well Known Man in The Banta Refrigerator Office Uses Goldine After Two Years of Suffering

Mrs. Curtis Bloom of Olanta is Bidding Goodby to Backache and Kidney Trouble by the Goldine Method

Mr W D McBride living at 125 Nichols street, well known clerk in the office of the Banta Refrigerator company, was ailing for two years with acid stomach In fact he has been so bad that he lost the sense of taste He was troubled with gas, bloating and a sort of nervous dyspepsia. Ask Mr. McBride what he thinks of Goldine.

Mrs Curtis Bloom, of Olanta, well known in that section has for the past year been troubled severely with her kidneys and back She had headaches in the back of her head, with dizziness and catarrh. She took cold easily and would cough and spat up a great deal. She was short of breath, had palpitation of the heart, rheumatism in her back and shoulders. It also settled in her muscles and joints. She had a pain over her liver; her skin was sallow; tongue coated and stomach bloated with gas; usually constipated; had lame back and lumbago. Also had bladder trouble which interrupted her rest at night. Her hands and feet would go to sleep and her muscles would twitch. She would have weak and trembly spells and her nerves were awfully bad. Ask her what she thinks of Goldine.

Don't forget Stewart's at Clearfield and Wrigley's at Curwensville are the only places to get Goldine.

Lesson XI.—Second Quarter, For June 10, 1917.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, John xix, 16-30. Memory Verses, 26, 27—Golden Text, I Cor. xv, 3—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

Pilate seems to have tried again and again to release Him, and his wife also sent him word to have nothing to do with that just man, for she had suffered many things in a dream because of Him (Matt. xxvii, 19). Peter testified after Pentecost that Pilate was determined to let Him go (Acts iii, 13). He evidently thought when he asked them to choose between Christ and Barabbas as to which he should release unto them that they would surely ask for Christ. But they cried out, "Not this man, but Barabbas," although Barabbas was a robber and murderer (chapter xviii, 40; Acts iii, 14). Pilate's fear to touch Him increased when the Jesus said that His crime was that He said He was the Son of God (verse 7). When Pilate asked Him about this Jesus at first made no reply, but a little later said to him, "Thou couldest have no power against Me except it were given thee from above; therefore he that delivered Me unto thee hath the greater sin" (verse 11).

The first part of this reply must refer to the will of God, the determinate counsel and foreknowledge of God, that which His hand and His counsel determined before to be done (Acts ii, 23; iv, 28), the last part to the high priest who delivered Him to Pilate There are degrees of sin and degrees of punishment for the lost, as there are degrees of rewards for the righteous (Luke xii, 48; Rev. xxii, 12). When the Jews cried out, "If thou let this man go thou art not Caesar's friend; * * * we have no king but Caesar" (verses 12-15), Pilate took water and washed his hands before the multitude, saying, "I am innocent of the blood of this just person; see ye to it." Then the people said, "His blood be on us and on our children" Then he released Barabbas, scourged Jesus and delivered Him to be crucified (Matt xxvii, 24-26). Why did he scourge Him after he declared Him innocent? Why did he deliver Him to the brutal soldiers to be mocked and spit upon and so ill treated? Even a guilty man is protected from injustice at the hands of his enemies as a rule. If we cannot reply to the why, let each one at least say it was all for me, the Holy One of God suffering in my stead. When we see the Son of God, the Creator of all things, the Judge of all mankind, receiving such treatment at the hands of the civil and religious authorities and remember that they are just the same today, what should be our attitude to them? When we hear Pilate say, "Behold the man!" and "Behold your king!" (verses 5-14) we think of the true testimonies of the Spirit, "Behold the man whose name is The Branch!" and "Behold, thy king cometh!" (Zech. vi, 12; ix, 9)

So Pilate delivered Jesus to be crucified, and they took Him and led Him away, and He, bearing His cross, went forth (verses 16, 17). They met one Simon, a Cyrenian, coming into the city and compelled him to turn about and help Jesus bear the cross or bear it for Him (Luke xxiii, 26). We remember that He said, "If any man will come after Me, let him deny himself and take up his cross and follow Me" (Matt. xvi, 24) Let us not forget that the cross is never anything beautiful, but a cruel thing signifying a painful and lingering death. Many women followed Him, bewailing and lamenting Him, but He told them not to weep for Him, but for themselves and their children because of the things that would come upon them (Luke xxiii, 27-31). Having reached Golgotha, they crucified Him and two evildoers with Him, one on either side and Jesus in the midst, and thus He was numbered with transgressors, all for me.

The four soldiers divided His garments among them, but for His coat they cast lots, thus fulfilling another Scripture (verses 23, 24; Ps. xxii, 18) Perhaps three more awful words were never written than these, "They crucified Him" (verse 18), when we consider who He was that they crucified, the Prince of Life, the Lord of Glory (Acts iii, 15; 1 Cor. ii, 8), and that He submitted to be a curse for us that we might not perish (Gal. iii, 13). We have in our lesson three of His seven sayings on the cross (26, 28, 30); but, taking them in order from all the records, we have first forgiveness, even for those who crucified Him; then glory for even a penitent thief; then provision for His own mother, suggesting the supply of all we can need between salvation and glory. The fourth was at the beginning of the darkness, "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken Me?" and the other three at the close of those awful six hours, "I thirst." "It is finished," "Father, into thy hands I commit My spirit."

When the Jews asked Pilate to have the bodies removed that their Sabbath day might not be desecrated (oh, the utter hypocrisy of it all!) the soldiers broke the legs of the two malefactors but found Jesus dead already, so they did not break His legs, but a soldier pierced His side, and thus two Scriptures were fulfilled, Ex xii, 46; Zech xii, 10. The last part of the chapter describes His burial by Nicodemus and Joseph in Joseph's new tomb, and thus was fulfilled the saying, With the rich in His death (Isa liii, 9)
